Response to Arguments

The following is in response to the amendment filed 3/01/00:

An action on the merits of claims 1-12 is contained herein below.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Objection to the Specification

Objection to the specification has been overcome through applicant's amendment.

20 35 USC § 103

Applicant's arguments filed 3/01/00 in response to the rejection of claims 1- 12 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The rejection of claims 1-12 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) is maintained for the reasons of record.

The test for obviousness is not whether the features of a secondary reference may be bodily incorporated into the structure of the primary reference; nor is it that the claimed invention must be expressly suggested in any one or all of the references. Rather, the test is what the combined teachings of the references would have suggested to those of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981).

In the case of the instant application, the prior art cited has set forth that monosaccharides such as D-tagatose serve as a substrate for the production of Short Chain Fatty Acids such as butyrate and also allow for the growth of commensalistic indigenous flora such as Lactobacilli. Therefore, it would have been prima facie obvious to use D-tagatose or any other saccharide which may be positively fermented by indigenous microflora of the human large intestine in a method for inducing production of butyrate or stimulating the growth of lactobacilli and lactic acid bacteria. Applicant acknowledges that "an increased ingestion of malabsorbed or undigested carbohydrate gives a general stimulation of colon fermentation and thus a general stimulation of production of SCFAs including butyrate", however applicant claims that D-tagatose is unique in its ability to selectively induce production of butyrate even though the prior art (Zehner) teaches that D-tagatose is slowly degraded by indigenous microflora such as Lactobacillus casei and is metabolized at a small extent by the body; moreover, that unabsorbable sugars such as D-tagatose are subject to fermentation in the human colon (col.1, lines 60-66). characteristics of D-tagatose and the production of SCFAs from monosaccharides as set forth by the prior art, one of skill in the art would be provided with a reasonable expectation of success in the use of D-tagatose to induce production of butyrate and stimulate the growth of lactobacilli.
